San Francisco Mayor's Office Calls on RHDG Again

January 2011

The San Francisco Mayor's Office has renewed their trust in RHDG for a fourth year in a row by awarding a contract renewal for their high profile City and County of San Francisco, California 2011-2012 Mayor's Proposed Annual Budget Book.

The Proposed Budget book is a yearly publication which provides budgetary information and operational priorities for the city's 50 departments and is prepared in coordination with the city's Office of Public Policy and Finance, then submitted to the Board of Supervisors.

Mandated by law, the Proposed Budget book is a highly time sensitive publication. Because of this, RHDG works closely with the Office of Public Policy and Finance to include content that is continuously updated with the latest budget information negotiated and provided by city officials right up until the final deadline, ensuring that the published version has the most accurate and updated information possible.

RHDG has also been recognized for their work on the Proposed Budget book by being presented with the Distinguished Budget Presentation Award for a third year in a row from the Government Finance Officers Association.
